LONGING FOR HOME

Idaho Conference Camp Meeting 2020

David Prest Jr., President, Idaho Conference

“Longing for Home!” is the theme for the 2020 Idaho Conference Camp Meeting. I invite you to join us June 9–13, on the campus of beautiful Gem State Adventist Academy. Dr. Hyveth Williams is the evening and Sabbath morning speaker for the English language Camp Meeting. Dr. Williams serves as Professor of Homiletics at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University. Pastor Abel Pacheco is the speaker for the Spanish language Camp Meeting. He serves as the president of the Salvadoran Union. Our evening meetings will have an evangelistic flavor as we invite our friends, neighbors and communities to join us.

I am reminded that this world is not our home. We are pilgrims passing through to our heavenly home. Are you longing for home? Are you tired of sin, sickness and sorrow? Are you stressed, fatigued and worn? Have you had enough of death, disease, war and natural disasters? Are you longing for home and Jesus' soon Second Coming?

Several engaging speakers are scheduled for the daily meetings and seminars. Grant Agadjanian will speak on Praying for Children, Jim Kilmer on Fires of Pentecost on the Battlefield, Beverly Sedlacek on Health. Watch our website and social media for topics from Dale Galusha and Hyveth Williams. Cheri Gatton, Idaho Conference Women's Ministries Leader and her team will lead in a special gathering for women on Friday afternoon in the cafeteria. Friday afternoon will also feature an Adventist Book Center book and food sale in the auditorium. Evening mini concerts will feature local talent, bringing us an inspiring musical worship experience. Our Sabbath afternoon concert will be brought to us by The Victory Choir from the Oasis Church (remember their mini concert last year?).

I love Camp Meeting! It is the annual gathering of God's people from Southern Idaho and Eastern Oregon and beyond. It is the one time in the year when we gather as one body for worship, fellowship and spiritual renewal. There will be Holy Spirit-filled preaching and life-transforming seminars. Meetings are also offered for our children and young people of every age group –

Beginners through young adults.

I look forward to seeing you at the 2020 Idaho Conference Camp Meeting, June 9 -13, 2020, on the campus of Gem State Adventist Academy. Visit the Camp Meeting Facebook page at facebook.com/idahocampmeeting or our website at www.idahoadventist.org.

FINANCING A WORLD CHURCH, PT. 2

John Rogers, Vice President, Finance & Administration, Idaho Conference

In the first article of this series we looked at how God desires our giving to flow out of the joy and freedom we experience knowing that He is our Creator and Redeemer. In this issue I would like to review some of the basic Biblical principles upon which the financial system of the Seventh-day Adventist Church is built.

The first and foremost Biblical principle regarding finances is found in Colossians 1:16 NIV, "For by him all things were created: things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things were created through him and for him." This tells us that all we have belongs to God, yet He has given it to us to use. Further, it points out that He desires us to use what we have been given for God and to fulfill His purposes.

The second principle builds on the first and is found in Genesis 1:26 ESV, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion." God has appointed us to have dominion over all that is His here on Earth. We are to be His caretakers, to care for what belongs to God. Being made in the image and likeness of God shows us that God would like us to use His creation in a similar manner to how He would use them. To know how He would use them requires us to have a relationship with our God.

Romans 14:12 KJV gives us a third principle, "So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God." We are accountable for how we use what belongs to God. The parable of the talents in Matthew 25 shows us that we will be accountable to God for how we have used what He has given us. Here and now we are accountable to the cause and effect laws of nature. Organizationally we are also accountable to each other.

In Acts 4:32-37 we find an example of a fourth principle. The early Christians had organized themselves in a way where they all worked together in unity. Those who had means helped those who did not. Verse 33 shows us this was not just a compassionate form of socialized welfare, it was a system that utilized the gifts of each individual for the spreading of the Gospel. Those who had the gift of means shared that wealth for the cause of the Gospel and those who had the gift of speaking shared the good news of the resurrection of Jesus. The Seventh-day Adventist Church approaches the allocation of resources with the understanding that all we have belongs to God and has sacrificially been given by His stewards. With this sacred trust the church must also take seriously its role to be good stewards and use these resources in the best way possible to forward God's purposes and kingdom.

Proverbs tells us that through the multitude of counselors there is wisdom and through the Bible and His servants, God reveals His will. The church works through committees at every level, from the local church to the General Conference. This allows more members to be involved in the decision making and helps them feel more a part of the mission. When we work through committees, the various gifts each person has been given are used to further the mission. The church selects people for committees who have demonstrated that God is active in their lives. Further, the committees are bathed with prayer. These practices allow God to reveal His will through the committees.

Another principle we can draw out of Acts 4 is the idea of the strong helping the weak. While the major portion of offerings stay at the local church and the major portion of tithe stays at the conference level, there are offerings taken that benefit the world-wide church and a portion of tithe helps to spread the Word in other parts of the globe. Without this system we would have a hard time reaching into all the world. Many parts of this world would not have an Adventist presence if it wasn't for our commitment to sending missionaries. Conferences like Alaska and Montana have vast territories and few resources; all of us within the North Pacific Union send a little bit to help these conferences. Recently the Idaho Conference has

Idaho Conference Adventist Education in the 2020s

Patrick Frey, Superintendent of Schools, Idaho Conference

2019 was the beginning of the new quadrennium for the Idaho Conference. In the Education Department, we are looking forward to new plans which improve the education of our students.

1. FOCUS ON OUR STUDENTS' GROWTH IN CHRIST

The education and youth ministries are part of a three-faceted collaborative ministry to our children. The first part is home, where children initially learn about God's love and salvation. Parents instruct and model living for God to their children.

The second part is the local church. Through Sabbath School, Pathfinders and youth groups, children learn about the church body and how Christians serve God as a community of believers. The final part, Adventist education, continues educating children in God's Word daily— as well as other academic subjects.

THIS NEXT FOUR YEARS, WE WANT TO FOCUS ON THESE AREAS OF SPIRITUALITY:

a. Helping administrators and teachers to experience a deeper relationship with God and to whole-heartedly serve. In our busy lives and long hours of work, it is easy to not spend quality time with our Heavenly Father. We want to encourage and support our educators in maintaining their close walk with Him.

b. Emphasizing spirituality and Bible class to the same level as standard core subjects. Bible class should not be an "easy A." Good teachers have high expectations for students to learn God's Word. Helping them develop a good foundation in biblical truths from SDA worldview is important for future growth—and for those that don't have a relationship with Christ in their school years, a place to come back to later in life.

c. Developing school outreach activities that impact the non-SDA community. Biblical outreach focuses on reaching people through God's love, regardless if they are drawn to Christ. Having students work in outreach activities that minister directly to people in real ways can change both the recipients and the students.

2. CONTINUE TO MOVE TEACHERS TOWARD PROJECT-BASED LEARNING AND PROFICIENCY-BASED EDUCATION

We have been training our teachers in Project-Based Learning to make learning more practical and relevant. We will now also of learning that is beyond just completing the homework. Students will need to demonstrate an understanding of how to consistently use what they learn before moving to new material. This can be easily used with PBL.

3. CONTINUE TO HIRE HIGH-QUALITY TEACHERS

This is the most important aspect that the Office of Education and Academy Administration are responsible for. The quality of a teacher can impact a school for greatness or decline because they have largest interaction with students and parents. In the last four years we have hired many great teachers. Do we have a 100% success rate? No, but we are striving toward that goal. God's leading is essential to finding great teachers.

4. IMPROVE THE NEW TEACHER MENTORING PROGRAM

New teachers need to have good mentoring to survive their early years while on the way to becoming great teachers. We are working to raise the quality of our mentoring through more formalized training of mentors for new teachers and increasing the period of mentoring to at least two years. This will hopefully lower new teacher frustration and possible burnout. Good mentors can guide and encourage new teachers to a thriving educational career.

5. WORK TOWARD HELPING TEACHERS TO BECOME STEM CERTIFIED

STEM is an acronym for Science, Technology, Engineering and Math education. Proficiency in these skills is important for 21st Century students and their future employment. Rather than teaching each of the STEM subjects separately, incorporating STEM into the curriculum allows educators to show students how these subjects are related, not only to each other, but to nearly every subject and discipline. Using a STEM approach challenges educators to offer students experiences that are hands-on, collaborative and open-ended, so they can apply the knowledge and techniques they learn throughout their lives. (www.alleducationschools.com)

For those teachers that are interested in STEM certification, the Conference will cover the course work and training. This training can bring these subjects alive in the classroom. For more information on STEM and STEM training, go to this link: <https://nise.institute/>.

WAYS TO HELP YOUR CHILD HAVE THE BEST EXPERIENCE AT CAMP MEETING PROGRAMS:

1. The programs are designed for specific age ranges. Your child may be frustrated or bored if he/she attends a program out of his/her age group. (See schedule for ranges.)
2. If you want to visit with other parents, please go outside to limit the distraction to the children.
3. To avoid distractions for the children, please limit entering/exiting the room when a meeting is in session.
4. For Beginners, children need to have a parent or adult guardian with them at all times. It would be ideal to have one adult for every child.

Jim Kilmer, Seminar Speaker

Jim Kilmer's life can be summarized in four words -- service for the Savior. A native of Washington State, he helped advance the kingdom of God throughout the Pacific Northwest in multiple capacities, including pastoral evangelism and conference church growth leadership. His influence has also circled the globe via professorship roles in Africa and Middle East, as well as short-term mission work in Russia. Though "retirement" has brought him back home, he still tirelessly strives to represent Christ as a mentor and freelance writer.

His most recent book, Fires of Pentecost on the Battlefield, shares miracle after miracle of the way the Holy Spirit is reaching souls through humble prayerful member ministers not only in overseas spiritual and actual battlefronts but right here in America.

Speaker Bio

Grant Agadjanian, Seminar Speaker

Grant Agadjanian was born of Armenian parents and raised in Russia as an atheist. After college, he was drafted to serve in the Soviet Army in 1980. Following his compulsory service in the army in Siberia, he was seriously ill due to the harsh climate. He spent six years in and out of hospitals. At the end of six years of illness, doctors said he had one year to live.

At that time a friend gave him a Bible. For the first time in his life, he had a Bible. As he read it and looked at nature, he came to believe that there is a God. As he acted on the principles in the Word of God, his health began to improve. His wife, Anne, was always searching for knowledge to improve his health and life.

Through God's providence, she bought a book titled, Family and Health in Russian (which is the combination of Ministry of Healing and Adventist Home by Ellen G. White).

After moving to the United States, Grant and his family were ultimately baptized in December 1994. Grant currently serves as president of Creative Media Ministries and leads weekends of revival across the country. He will be speaking on Praying for Children.

For more of his conversion story, see the Camp Meeting page of <https://IdahoAdventist.org>.

Dr. Beverly Sedlacek, Health Speaker

Beverly Sedlacek received her Doctorate in Nursing Practice from Andrews University. Her area of expertise is psychiatric nursing. She maintains a thriving private counseling practice, counseling hurting people in the areas of trauma, addiction, abuse, emotional problems and relationship and financial difficulties. Beverly serves as Clinical Director of Into His Rest Ministries, a Christian counseling ministry, where she conducts intensive weekend retreats with groups of women around the country, and frequently speaks at conferences and camp meetings around the world. She also writes.

She and her husband, David, have written a book and workbook entitled, Cleansing the Sanctuary of the Heart: Tools for Emotional Healing. When Beverly speaks, she is transparent about her own journey of healing and invites the courageous to join her in God's work of restoration and cleansing the sanctuary of our hearts. She is passionate about Jesus, and making Him a living, real Savior for young and old alike. She summarizes her life mission through the text Luke 4:18: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim release to the captives and the regaining of sight to the blind, to set free those who are oppressed, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."

Dr. Sedlacek is our health speaker and will present on Wednesday and Thursday in the Academy Church from 3:15 – 4:45 pm and on Friday from 1:30 – 3 pm.

even benefited from the funds for smaller conferences. Within our conference the Board of Directors looks at how we can most effectively reach our entire conference for God. That involves resources from larger churches benefiting regions of the conference with little in resources. Within our church Maranatha Volunteers is another example of individuals giving to help outside their immediate sphere. Recently Maranatha Volunteers spent time remodeling buildings at Gem State Adventist Academy and they are planning to help out in the near future at the Long Creek Adventist Church.

Certainly our system of operating the Seventh-day Adventist Church is not perfect. However, by understanding who our resources ultimately belong to, using them for His purposes to the best of our ability, all of us banding together to benefit as many as possible has resulted in our denomination becoming the fastest growing church in North America. Overseas our church is growing twice as fast as it is here at home.

I invite you to renew your commitment to spreading the good news of Jesus' soon return. While there are certainly many charities with very worthy causes, I invite you to consider how the framework of the Seventh-day Adventist Church has enabled a small group of individuals to grow into a world-wide movement and how it can enable you to be an integral part of sharing Jesus to those around you as well as "unto all the world."
